

Global Systematic Review: Social norms, attitudes, and factual beliefs linked to the sexual exploitation of children and adolescents (SECA)

A. M. Buller, Marjorie Pichon, A. McAlpine, B. Cislighi, L. Heise, R. Meiksin

Sample: 49 studies, 37 countries, 14,000+ participants

Universal Norms:

1. Sexually exploited young people are stigmatized
2. Perpetrators are not

“People spit at us but at night their father, uncle, brothers come to sleep with us... there is no punishment for them.”
- Girl who sold sex in Bangladesh (Kaiser, 2014; p.102)

